EXPANSIVE PHOTOGRAPHY SHOW VISIONS FROM AMERICA
COMES TO WEXNER CENTER GALLERIES AT THE BELMONT BUILDING

EXHIBITION FROM THE WHITNEY MUSEUM COLLECTION FEATURES NEARLY 100 WORKS BY TOP AMERICAN PHOTOGRAPHERS FROM THE LAST 60 YEARS

Columbus—The vast photography show Visions from America: Photographs from the Whitney Museum of American Art, 1940–2001 will be on view

May 22–August 15 at the Wexner Center Galleries at The Belmont Building.

Visions features a wide range of photographic work by about 100 artists, established names and rising stars alike, who have lived or worked in the United States. Drawn from the Whitney Museum's permanent collection, the exhibition offers a survey of the diversity of photographic visions that have emerged from America in the latter half of the 20th century.

"Visions from America is a wonderful selection of photographic gems from the collection of the Whitney Museum of American Art," says Helen Molesworth, the Wexner Center's chief curator of exhibitions. "We are pleased to bring to Columbus and the region this overview of some of the best American photography from the past six decades."

Visions includes the work of such prominent artists as Robert Frank, Diane Arbus, Cindy Sherman, Aaron Siskind, Sally Mann, Nan Goldin, Sherrie Levine, Sol LeWitt, Gabriel Orozco, Andy Warhol, Lorna Simpson, Mary Ellen Mark, Robert Mapplethorpe, and Vik Muniz. The exhibition represents a wide range of styles, techniques, and subject matter, with both color and black-and-white, small- and large-scale, and traditional and digital photography. It encompasses documentary work, such as Diane Arbus's Woman with a Veil on Fifth Avenue, N.Y.C.; digitally based work, as with Craig Kalpakjian's use of software to create the interior spaces of Lobby; mid-century street photographs, as in Robert Frank's London; surreal composites (Laurie Simmons's Walking Camera II (Jimmy the Camera)); fictional portraiture, as in Anna Gaskell's haunting image of a young girl posing as Alice in Wonderland in As the Serpent; wry

American landscapes, such as Joel Sternfeld's image of a water theme park in Orlando; and social documentary, as with Mary Ellen Mark's The Damm Family in Their Car, Los Angeles, California.

Visions from America demonstrates the capacity of photography's power as a vehicle for personal expression, creative fiction, social commentary, and documentation of history. It offers audiences outside of New York the opportunity to view an expansive and unparalleled photography collection.

This exhibition was organized by the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York. Photography has been a feature of the Whitney's exhibitions for more than 30 years, in single-artist retrospectives, thematic exhibitions, and the Whitney Biennial. Over the years, the museum's permanent collection has grown from fewer than 50 photographic works to more than 2,500 objects.

WEXNER CENTER GALLERIES AT THE BELMONT BUILDING and the WEXNER CENTER FOR THE ARTS

Wexner Center exhibitions will be held at the Wexner Center Galleries at The Belmont Building all season while the galleries at the Wexner Center's Ohio State location are undergoing renovation. Located next to the Arena District in downtown Columbus, The Belmont Building is the former home of Belmont Casket, considered "the Cadillac of Caskets," which moved to Columbus in 1916. The building, constructed in 1885, sits near the intersection of Spring Street and Neil Avenue, with an entrance located off Cozzins Street. The four-story building, which currently houses offices in addition to the Wexner Center Galleries, is positioned in a high-growth area, just between the booming Arena District and the historically industrial River District. Caroline's Deli on the ground floor of The Belmont Building is open to the public Monday–Friday, 7:30 am–4 pm.

The Wexner Center for the Arts is The Ohio State University's multidisciplinary, international laboratory for the exploration and advancement of contemporary art. Through exhibitions, screenings, performances, artist residencies, and educational programs, the Wexner Center acts as a forum where established and emerging artists can test ideas and where diverse audiences can participate in cultural experiences that enhance understanding of the art of our time. In its programs, the Wexner Center balances a commitment to experimentation with a commitment to traditions of innovation and affirms the university's mission of education, research, and community service.
